DETAILED ACTION

Claims 15-34 are pending in this application.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 15-18, drawn to a method of assaying a hydantoin racemase.

Group II, claim(s) 19-23, drawn to a process for the preparation of a mutated hydantoin racemase.

Group III, claim(s) 24 and 27, drawn to a mutated hydantoin racemase or nucleic acid.

Group IV, claim(s) 25, drawn to a method of making enantiomerically enriched N-carbamoyl-amino acids or amino acids.

Group V, claim(s) 26, drawn to a host cell transformed with a vector encoding a mutated hydantoin racemase.

Group VI, claim(s) 28, drawn to an isolated nucleic acid.

Group VII, claim(s) 29, drawn to a vector comprising an isolated nucleic acid sequence.

Group VIII, claim(s) 30, drawn to a host cell comprising a vector.

Group IX, claim(s) 31, drawn to a hydantoin racemase.

Art Unit: 1657

Group X, claim(s) 32, drawn to an isolated nucleic acid comprising a sequence coding for a hydantoin racemase.

Group XI, claim(s) 33, drawn to a vector comprising an isolated nucleic acid comprising a sequence coding for a hydantoin racemase.

Group XII, claim(s) 34, drawn to a host cell comprising a vector comprising an isolated nucleic acid comprising a sequence coding for a hydantoin racemase.

The inventions listed as Groups I-XII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The Special Technical Feature, a mutated hydantoin racemase as described in Groups II, III, V, VI, X for example, is not found throughout all of the Groups of the invention, for example Group I. Therefore, according to PCT Rule 13.2 the inventions are not linked through a single general inventive concept, lack Unity of Invention, and are properly restricted.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

1) Substitution at amino position 79 (wherein the amino acid can be A, R, N, D, C, Q, E, H, I, L, K, M, F, P, S, T, Y and V).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1657

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

The following claim(s) are generic: Claim 24.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: A search for one amino acid substitution would not necessarily lead one to substitute any other amino acid and searching multiple possible amino acid substitutions would constitute a serious search burden on the Examiner.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained.

Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Paul C. Martin whose telephone number is 571-272-3348. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8am-4:30pm.
